

Re-boot Europe! Online Conference by young citizens on the Future of Europe

Program

Societies and citizens of Europe are facing the challenge of "rebooting" their societies and to decide about new ways to build the future. We must deal with the economic, social, political and cultural consequences of the Coronavirus crisis, to re-establish restricted civil rights and freedoms and evaluate the experiences from the crisis on many levels. It is clear that we can only solve this crisis in Europe together - in the spirit of a concrete European solidarity and cooperation. There is now space to proactively think and imagine the future of Europe, not only to react to the Brexit and Covid-19 major crisis but also to be resilient to the challenges of the future and to the shape of Europe we want.
